01

Background

Overview

UNDER ARMOUR

Making athletes better. Under Armour strives to inspire their customers by creating quality products that once you have, you cannot live without.

JUAN SOTO

A dominant baseball player offensively who is on track to be one of the greatest baseball players of all time. From the Nationals, Padres to the Yankees, Soto dominates at the plate everywhere he plays.

KITH

Just Us. Kith is a lifestyle brand that was founded in New York. They drop exclusive streetwear pieces and unique clothes. Kith provides quality clothes to their loyal customers.

Why?

Our mission with this collaboration is to bring together Soto's two loves. With Kith's unique street style, Under Armour's iconic shoes, and Juan Soto's passion for baseball, this collaboration is a unique blend of comfort and high fashion.

Objectives

Objective 1:

Drive brand awareness and engagement across digital and physical channels

Leverage the campaign's storytelling and experiential marketing to increase digital engagement and in-store traffic, achieving a 5% increase in engagement and 5,000 participants at the Under Armour NYC store within two months

Objective 2:

Generate and drive sales of collaboration products

Generate $4–$6 million in sales from the Juan Soto x Under Armour x Kith collaboration products, including apparel and footwear, within the first quarter of the campaign

Objective 3:

Expand community impact

Support youth baseball programs in the Dominican Republic by generating $100,000 in proceeds from the sale of limited-edition DR T-shirts and related events within the first quarter of the campaign

Market Research

Current Landscape

Customers

- Under Armour targets performance-driven consumers.
- Kith targets into streetwear enthusiasts.
- Soto attracts baseball fans and young athletes.

Trends

- Athletes as Influencers : Athletes are becoming lifestyle influencers, using personal stories and social media to humanize brands and resonate with consumers seeking authenticity and relatability.
- Streetwear and Sportswear Synergy : The fusion of streetwear and sportswear, exemplified by brands like Kith, targets consumers who value both performance and fashion-forward design.

What is currently being done?

- Market Dynamics : The sportswear industry blends performance gear with athleisure, as consumers demand stylish, versatile products.
- Niche Brands : Smaller brands are gaining traction by offering sustainability, customization, or targeting specific consumer segments, challenging larger players.

Industry Analysis

Growth opportunities in the market:

- Emphasis on customizable and limited edition drops to create exclusivity
- Expanded streetwear collaborations with luxury brands for fashion-forward audiences

What's not being done that can be done?

- Stronger storytelling with regional and cultural ties to athlete backgrounds
- Augmented Reality for enhanced online shopping and customer engagement
- More community-focused activations with athletes, fostering local connections

"This hasn't been done yet: merging high-fashion aspirations, NYC's heartbeat, and Soto's trailblazing career into a single vision. This is more than a collab it's a statement."

Competitor Analysis

Shohei Ohtani X New Balance

- Started with the New Balance 574 which merged the sneaker design to the cleat
- Signature logo
- Cross cultural influence with storytelling
- Collection of the FuelCell Ohtani 1 and other higher quality everyday clothing pieces, similar to our activation plan
- “We got now” Campaign – “Celebrates the spirit of the present moment, something that I feel passionate about in my career and in my life,” says Shohei. “When we are living in a world that’s future-focused and increasingly uncertain, now is everything.”
- 50/50 Club Commercial – creative and celebratory commercial to congratulate Ohtani on being the first member apart of the 50/50 club

Competitor Analysis

Ken Griffey Jr. X Nike

- Nike Air Griffey Max 1 is his main shoe
- Releases limited edition colorways inspired by previous eras
- Signature “24” and “Swingman” logos
- 90s retro style shoe
- Targets streetwear fans and sneakerheads
- Nostalgic to original fans during his time on different teams

Consumer Research

To figure out consumer needs, a survey can be conducted to figure out what consumers look for in shoes and other products.

We can ask:

- Why do you primarily wear shoes or streetwear for? (Everyday, events, performance)
- What features are important in a shoe? (Comfort, price, quality, brand reputation)
- What challenges do you face when choosing a shoe? (Price, poor quality, limited options)
- What do you look for in a product line with an athlete? (Exclusivity, tie to athlete, uniqueness)
- How do you perceive Under Armour as a brand? How do you perceive Kith as a brand?
- How do you perceive Juan Soto as a person?
- Would you consider purchasing from a Juan Soto X Under Armour X Kith product line?
- What would hold you back from purchasing?
- What items would you be interested in purchasing?
- What influences you to buy from an athlete line?
- What price range would you be willing to purchase?
- Have you ever purchased merchandise from an athlete collaboration before?

Target Audience

- Sports Enthusiasts & Baseball Fans : passionate about baseball and high-performance gear linked to star athletes like Soto.
- Urban Fashion & Streetwear Collectors : trend-driven, looking for exclusive and stylish apparel blending sports and streetwear.
- Dominican Republic Legacy Fans : interested in cultural storytelling tied to Soto's heritage and personal journey.
- Fashion-forward: value versatile athleisure that balances function with style for an active and social lifestyle.

Target Audience: 18-35

SWOT Analysis

Strengths

High-Profile Athlete : Juan Soto's international appeal boosts brand visibility, especially among baseball fans and Latin American audiences.

Opportunities

Expansion into New Markets : Leverage Soto's influence to tap into Latin American markets and engage a diverse demographic.

Weaknesses

Cost of Premium Products : Higher price points could deter budget-conscious consumers in a competitive market.

Threats

High Competition : Major players like Nike and Adidas dominate the market, posing significant competition.

03

Strategy & Positioning

Brand Positioning

Where Performance Meets Style

The Juan Soto x Under Armour x Kith is a collaboration at the intersection of performance, culture and style, appealing as much to athletes and fashion enthusiasts.

- Juan Soto represents excellence, showing how the hard work and determination leads to success.
- Kith brings the cultural clout and the ability to build a bridge between worlds mixing high fashion with sportswear.
- Under Armour brings the technical expertise and the innovation that lead to performance.

This partnership shows that this collection is more than a simple apparel. It's also a mix of heritage and athleticism, targeting customers looking for performance and style.

Collaboration

Distribution and Sales

- Under Armour will handle global distribution.
- Kith will set the collection as a limited-edition.

Targeted Audience

Each brand will attract different type of customers.

- Under Armour targets performance-driven consumers.
- Kith targets into streetwear enthusiasts.
- Soto attracts baseball fans and young athletes.

Revenue Sharing

- Under Armour retains a majority share from products like cleats and sneakers while Kith takes a higher share of profits from premium apparel.
- Soto's participation includes royalties and bonuses.

Long-Term Potential

- If successful, this partnership will set more drops or expand the product lines.

Core Messaging

Inspiration and Dedication:

- Soto's work ethic and his rise from a young talent to being a world class athlete.
- His qualities: he remains humble, attributes his success to his family, coaches, and teammates. The importance of working hard.
- His commitment to excellence and how this collaboration show his passion for performance and style.

Culture

- Dominican roots
- Aligns with Kith, also use different cultural influences

Fusion of Performance and Lifestyle

- Wearing high-quality sport gear combined with a clean design to wear everyday.

Product Line Overview

The Shoe

We wanted to include different versions of both cleats and a turf shoe. These shoes are a mix of the wonderful culture and street style New York has

- The first cleat on the left has more of a New York Yankee feel. It has the classic pinstripes, the logo, as well as the KITH logo and “Juan Soto” on it.
- The cleat on the right has more of a city feel. This includes skyscrapers, the skyline, his number, 22, and a baseball. This cleat is where sports meets street style.
- Both pairs of turfs incorporate the street style of Kith and Soto. They are very simple, but say a lot. They have “Juan Soto” on them as well as his number “22”. People may not know these are Juan Soto shoes on the surface, but if you look closely you can see how cool this collaboration really is.

Product Line Overview: Special Drop

In addition, we will be launching a pair of batting gloves in September right as the playoff race begins to heat up.

Concept:

- The gloves are designed to not only honor Soto's iconic three run homerun in extra innings that sent the Yankees to their first World Series in 15 years during the 2024 playoffs, but also elevate the excitement of the 2025 Postseason for fans.
- As part of the Kith x Under Armour x Soto collaboration, they are built to combine performance, style, and collectibility, with packaging inspired by the nostalgic feel of baseball card boxes.

Limited Edition Boxes

A select number of limited-edition cards will feature Soto's signature.

- For the batting glove release, each box will include a paper card with a QR code (as shown on the left).
- Scanning the QR code will reveal whether you've found a limited-edition box.
- If you have, you'll be directed to a page where you can redeem your signed card by entering your address to have it sent to you.

Limited Edition Drops

Colorways and Exclusive Pieces for Soto Collection

Colorways:

- Washington Nationals: Red, navy, and white with a subtle Nationals or 2019 World Series logo to honor his early career and championship win.
- San Diego Padres: Gold-plated sole with brown and white accents, featuring a San Diego emblem or palm tree to highlight his successful year with the team.
- Dominican Republic: Red, white, and blue with a Dominican flag to celebrate his heritage.
